Name : Ryan Lobo (4 months old)

Tel : [REDACTED] (Diana Lobo (patient's mother))

Disease : severe cold and fever / Skin problem

Duration : 1 month

Aggravation : Since 1 month

My Son Ryan Lobo who is just 4 months old had severe cold and fever (viral infection as mentioned by allopathic doctor) almost for a month. I initially did take him to a child specialist as all mothers would do. The fever did subside but again recurred after couple of weeks. Sometimes I was bit tensed with the idea of feeding so many allopathic medicines for such a small kid. So I decided to see doctor Swail and get some homeopathic treatment done as I have heard that it has no side effects.

The doctor is really different from the other doctors I have ever come across in my life. He takes deep interest in the patient and just does not bother on the quantum of time spent in explaining ever minute details required for to be understood by us for the patient's benefit. The rigorous follow up that he does is tremendous. The only thing required from our end is co-operation.

It's been one month now and I do find a marvellous change in the health of my kid. He developed some kind of a skin problem beneath his chin. With one dose of his medicine it has nearly disappeared.

Regarding the compounders, they all are really very friendly and always ready to help out. They seem to not be playing merely a role of a compounder as seen anywhere else but have enough knowledge on certain things and can guide a person whenever reqd. The fee structure is also quite reasonable.
